

Bennington (VT) Branch

2023-24 Membership Application Form

Since 1881, the American Association of University Women has worked to expand educational opportunities and equity for women and girls. AAUW has supported women and girls with legislation and scholarships transforming their schools, their communities, and their fields of work.

The Bennington Branch is the local affiliate of the National Association of AAUW. It was founded in 1916 and will be celebrating its 100th anniversary in 2026. Over the years the Bennington Branch has sponsored programs of interest to members and has opened many of these meetings to the community. It supports two interests groups: Scribble Sisters and the Book Group. For more information about the Bennington Branch, see our website: bennington-vt.aauw.net.

Individuals eligible for holding national membership are those with an associate (or equivalent, such as an RN) degree or higher from a regionally accredited college or university or a recognized foreign institution. Anyone without a degree may join as a local member.
